CHICAGO MAYOR Committee Named To Decide On Questions For Liquor Plebiscite

Decision Is Reached After an All-Day Debate in the Legislature—Liberals Refuse to Act upon Committee—Boyle Charges That Government Is Evading Responsibility

After adopting a resolution endorsing the submission of an alternative list of questions respecting liquor control when the referendum is taken, the legislature Tuesday night immediately thereafter became involved in another hot debate as to whether or not a committee should be named from the various groups in the house to decide what these questions should be.

This proposal came from Premier Greenfield in the form of a motion.

Shortly before 11:30 o'clock the house adopted this proposal against the solid opposition of the Liberals in the house supported by Messrs. Carson, Moore, Brown and Fedun from the U.F.A. group, and Robert Fournier of the Independents.

Mr. H. J. Boyle asked the government with a direct list of questions to be submitted to the voters.

Mr. Boyle contended that the resolution asking for an alternative list of questions to be submitted to the voters was not important but that the motion to name a committee to decide the questions was of the greatest importance.
